

Fairer World Lindfield holds its first Kids Eco Fair

By Chris Lee

The first-ever Kids Eco Fair is coming to Lindfield on Saturday 20th June.

Members of Lindfield's climate and ecological group, Fairer World Lindfield (FWL) are hosting an exciting event for children of primary age and above, encouraging them to engage in discovering the world around them and how they can make a difference.

Local residents will be on hand to pass on their skills of knitting, crocheting, and sewing, as well as learning how to repair your bike and toys.

There will be things to do like making a bug hotel, creating eco art, learning about birds, trees and insects as well as seeing how solar gadgets work.

That's not all. If you want to learn about bees, then this is the place to find out, as well as starting a wormery in your own garden and building a simple pond to attract insects.

Members of FWL would love to support young people to be more resilient and sustainable and learn new skills for their future. Parents need to be on hand so they too can discover how to talk with their kids about the climate and how to build a fairer world.

So, see you there. Saturday 20th June from 9am to 12noon at The Stand Up Inn. Bring your bikes and toys to repair... and your imagination.
